108 X-Ray and Imaging – Accessible Excellence

Founded in 1991 108 X-Ray and Imaging provides an efficient modern and personalised service within a friendly and re-assuring environment. It was originally established to provide diagnostic imaging support to The London Breast Clinic and The Gilmore Groin and Hernia Clinic but the high quality of the radiological team meant that requests were received to provide services to a wider range of referrers.

In addition to the rapid access diagnostic breast imaging using tomosynthesis digital mammography, ultrasound and where appropriate fine needle aspiration cytology or core biopsy to support the work of The London Breast Clinic we also offer a full range of plain film investigations, general ultrasound, visa medical chest x-rays, Wellwoman screening and image guided injections.

AT

Recent improvements to the department include 3D tomosynthesis digital mammography equipment with facilities for stereotactic core biopsy, digitalising plain x-ray and new and improved ultrasound imaging.

We also work with other local centres for the provision of MRI and nuclear medicine investigations where indicated.

Imaging is normally undertaken at the request of a clinician and a request form is required. The exception to this is breast screening where patients can self refer for a mammogram if they are 40 or over and not had a mammogram in the previous 12 months.
