

The London Thyroid & ENT Clinic – Accessible Excellence

Established in 2006, The London Thyroid & ENT Clinic is one of the specialist clinics run at 108 Harley Street. The clinic provides the highest professional standards of dedicated thyroid and ENT care, in a friendly and reassuring environment. The multidisciplinary team is experienced in the assessment, diagnosis and treatment of benign and malignant disorders of the thyroid together with the assessment and treatment of both paediatric and adult ENT problems.

All treatment programmes are individually tailored, to suit each patient's needs. Members of our knowledgeable specialist team work closely together, to ensure minimal delay in diagnosis and treatment, hence maximum peace of mind for every patient.

Our Approach

People visit The London Thyroid & ENT Clinic, at 108, Harley Street, for a variety of reasons; most commonly they have been referred by a medical practitioner, because an abnormality has been noticed and a surgical opinion is required.

The clinic is dedicated to minimising patient anxiety. The team of caring professionals is available most days, so appointments can usually be offered without delay.

The clinics held in our relaxed and friendly premises, are designed to lead to a rapid yet accurate diagnosis. During an initial meeting with the consultant surgeon, a thorough history will be taken followed by expert physical examination. Subsequently facilities for ultrasound imaging, as well as aspiration cytology, if required, are available in the onsite X-Ray and Imaging Centre. Radionuclide scanning and other tests can be undertaken at partner facilities.

Once diagnosis has been confirmed, appropriate treatment can be recommended. This treatment will be discussed and agreed with each individual patient, it may involve surgical intervention, or ongoing medical management of the condition.

The London Thyroid & ENT Clinic team

The multi-disciplinary team comprises consultant surgeons plus radiologist, pathologist, endocrinologist, oncologist, nursing and other experienced health professionals.

Together these specialists offer rapid assessment and diagnosis with an individually planned treatment programme.
